'This, then that' boards

How it works

First-then boards are some of the simplest types of schedules that we use with students with autism and other disabilities.

Simply put, it just presents what we need to do now (first) and what we will do next (then). It can be done with pictures, objects, in writing, or using apps.

This helps specific pupils to understand what is expected from them in class and ensure that they complete what is asked of them, with a reward after.
